CITIZENS UNITE FOR BIG CAMPAIGN DRIVE

LARGEST CIVIC DINNER IN HISTORY OF CITY HELD AS PART OF CLUB CAMPAIGN

Three Hundred Citizens Gathers at Dinner at McKenzie Hotel To Hear Plan for Coordinating Activities of City. United Effort Asked and Burial of Factional Differences When Interests of the City Are at Stake, Urged Upon People

More than 300 men and women of Bismarck enthusiastically applauded a call to the united citizenship of the city to coordinate their thought and energies in a big civic and commercial organization that will function for the benefit of the city as a whole, at the Civic Dinner held last night at the McKenzie hotel. It was the largest civic dinner in the history of the city, and every seat in the dining room was taken. It marked the high point thus far in the reorganization campaign for the Bismarck Commercial club.

The men and women present were told that political, factional, personal and business differences ought to be forgotten when the interests of the city are at stake, and applauded the statements. The new organization, yet un-named, is to be "not merely repainted but a brand new, up-to-date conveyance," the diners were told. The good and the bad of the past have been put behind, and a new civic and commercial organization is to spring into being, in which every member will have a voice and will be expected to render service.

The modern American Chamber of Commerce built on the plan of the American City Bureau, unlike in spirit and functions to the old organizations in other cities and this of similar name, will be built in Bismarck, the diners were told.

Speakers of the evening included Edward B. Cox, chairman of the reorganization executive committee, Judge A. M. Christianson, toastmaster; and Dr. J. Frank Jaynes of Chicago. The program included community singing with Henry Halverson as leader, solo by Mrs. John Graham with Mrs. Henry Doerr as accompanist, a duet by Henry Halverson and George Humphries, and closed with the singing of "America."

Explains Plan

Edward B. Cox, as presiding officer, opened the speaking by explaining briefly how in the spirit of the campaign and rebuilding everything that savered of the former organization had been thrown aside, and how directors and others active in that organization that gives up positions and responsibilities to enlist as privates in the new organization.

Appealing to every citizen to drop factional differences, Mr. Cox declared that "as selfishness would cause the downfall of this new organization, so service to it will bring unbounded success."

Mr. Cox was applauded when he said that "when political enemies, business competitors and others with widely divergent views get together maybe we can get rid of some of this scrapping in Bismarck."

"Let's get behind it and push and push and push," exhorted Mr. Cox.

Judge Christianson explained that Governor Nestos was unable to be present. He referred to remarks by Mr. Cox that along with the spirit he hoped would be engendered in the new campaign he hoped the Bismarck Commercial Club would have an adequate income, one which would permit it to function for the benefit of the city in real fashion. Judge Christianson added that "cold, hard cash" is a necessity in any organization, and that often you will find the heart of a man or woman close to their pocketbook. The toastmaster also referred to the gathering of citizens of widely divergent views, saying that through such an organization we learn the great American lesson of toleration, which he called one of the greatest American principles. There will be differences in all communities, and in such an organization as the Commercial club we ought to learn to respect the views of others, he said. Judge Christianson paid a deft compliment to Henry Halverson the latter led in community singing.

Cities Must Have Ideals

Dr. Jaynes in beginning his address spoke of the place of American cities in the national life. More than half the population of the country now lives in cities, he said, and it is estimated that every going city will double its population every 20 years. This means, he said, that American cities will control American affairs

"The very principle of the Republican form of government is at test in American cities," said Dr. Jaynes.

"There needs to be in every American city some organization for the mobilization of community thought and unselfish effort," he said. He told his audience that a city was not merely a place in which to build banks, and factories and other industries, but that a city "is a place to live in" and that "cities have characteristics just as individuals have."

Dr. Jaynes, who has visited many cities in similar work, said that no two cities he had ever seen are alike, and added that their individualities are just as striking as are those of persons. There are cities, he said, who are to the visitor as untidy as the home of a careless housekeeper and others that are as spotless as the home of a careful housekeeper.

There are three or four things which can take any city if citizens

CONSOLIDATION OPPOSED BY HILL GROUP

Merger Into Regional System Of Big Roads Considered By Commission

Washington, Nov. 17.—Whether transcontinental railroad in the northwest should be consolidated into two regional systems, one built around the Great Northern and the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul and the other around the Northern Pacific and the Chacago, Burlington and Quincy was taken up for detailed consideration at a hearing today before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Representatives of the "Hill" group, including the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and Burlington, were given first hearing and through Walker D. Hines, formerly director general of railroads, they attacked the consolidation plan which would result in a seperation in their present unifield holdings.

Other railroads concerned, including the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul through its president, H. E. Byram, and the Duluth, Missaba and Northern one of the iron ore carriers, as well as various state railroad commission also were represented at the hearings.

Commissioner Hall explained the commission was proceeding under the general instruction of congress to prepare a consolidation plan that would combine all the major railroads in the United States into 18 or 20 great regional systems. The commission, he said, had tentatively proposed in the northwest to separate the Great Northern from the present "Hill" group, and combine it with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and thus create two strong systems in the same territory.

"However, the commission's plant is not to be taken as a prejudgment of the situation," Commissioner Hall declared. "It represents an attack at the general problem and a basis for building up the fullest record of fact and argument which the commission can elicit to aid it in decisions and the eventual action will be dictated by findings from the record."

MILLER BOUND OVER ON CHARGE

Bottineau, N. D., Nov. 17.—Leonard Miller, of Harlem, Mont., was bound over to district court of Bottineau county without bonds on a charge of first degree murder, at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing here.

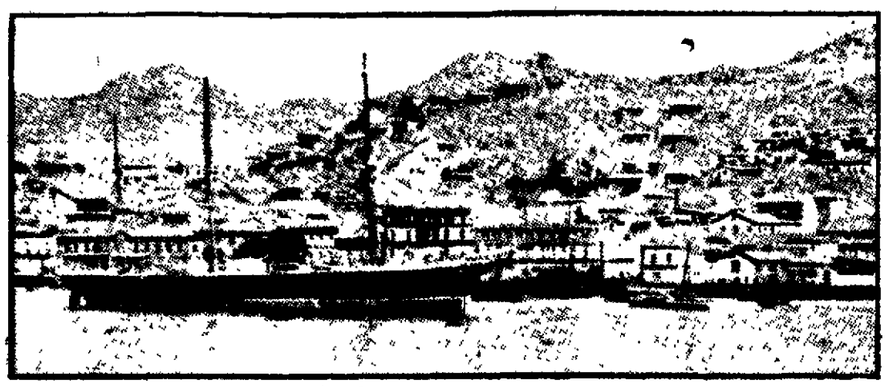
No term of court has yet been called for Bottineau county and it is probable one will not be held until some time after Jan. 1.

Testimony to the effect that an automobile found in the possession of Miller in Montana was the one owned by William Mahstedt, Minnesota farmer, who was shot and killed near here early this fall, is believed to have been the determining factor in binding over the defendant. The accused man asserts he bought the automobile from a man in Rugby for $75 and did not then know it had belonged to Mahstedt.

ACCEPTS TASK

Berlin, Nov. 17.—Wilhelm Cuno, general manager of the Hamburg-American Steamship Line, has accept the task of forming a cabinet to succeed the Wirth ministry, it was unofficially announced this afternoon.

IMPORTANT TOWNS STRICKEN



That part of Chile shaken by the earthquake of Friday night, Nov. 10, extends, approximately from the Tropic of Capricorn to the south about 1200 miles.

The most northerly town of any consequence mentioned in dispatches is the important port of Antofagasta (shown at right). The most southerly are Victoria and Valdivia, below the large south Chilean town of Concepcion.

Between these points, cables speak of Caldera, Guasco, Chanaral, Copiapo, Vallenar, Coquimbo and Talcanuano as having suffered.

Coquimbo (shown above) is a port of considerable importance. Talcahuano is the port of Concepcion. The others, though centers and, most of them, ports of some South American note, have never figured largely in world news.

With the exception of Victoria, all are on or near the coast, which suggests that the tidal wave must have been as much or more responsible than the earthquake for the enormous damage done.

Valparaiso, the greatest of Chilean coast towns and the sea outlet for Santiago, the capital, is not referred to as having suffered on this occasion, though a few years ago it was nearly wrecked, with enormous loss of life, by a quake and tidal wave.

Concepcion, next in importance to Valparaiso, appears also to have escaped.

The Andean range, which covers practically the whole of Chile, except for a narrow strip of coast and a few valleys, is one of the world's newest geological formations. Earthquakes, especially in about the latitude of Santtiago and to the southward, are of very frequent occurrence, though the territory in which many of them are felt is so little settled that they are never reported.

The Chilean ports, for the most part, are without harbor facilities and ships are compelled to anchor in exposed situations off the coast, so that they have practically no protection from heavy storms and tidal waves. With storms threatening, discreet mariners always put promptly to sea, but when caught suddenly by tidal waves the damage done to them invariably is great.

SPRING WHEAT PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED

Washington, Nov. 17.—Preparations are being made by department of agriculture experts for a conference here November 24 at which representatives of agricultural colleges in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana and department officials will discuss problems of the spring wheat region where conditions for many farmers are said to be serious.

The conference is to get the views of these interested and bring together such contributions as the various states and the department of agriculture may have a present bearing on the solution of the problem of the right type of farming and the most efficient system of marketing. Officials hope the meeting will develop a program of action for research and extension work by both the federal government and the states.

BELGIAN RUNS CLUSTER OF 244

New York, Nov. 17.—Roger Conti of France and and Erich Gahentacher of Germany will meet in the matinee match today of the international 18.2 balkline billiard tournament. Hagenlacher has failed to win any of the three matches in which he has played. Conti's tournament score is one won and one lost.

Edouard Horemans of Belgium, who in defeating Hagenlacher in one of yesterday's contests, 500 to 301, ran a cluster of 244, the highest run thus far in the tournament, will meet Jake Schaefer tonight.

Willie Hoppe, the former champion, won his second game of the tournament last night by defeating Welker Cochran, 500 to 162 in nine innings.

Meets Dec. 5

The state canvassing board will meet on December 5 to canvass the result of the last election, the date being fixed by law.

READY TO PUT CASE TO JURY

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 17.—Final plans for the presentation to the grand jury Monday of the Hall-Mills murder case will be made today at a conference of prosecuting officials in Somerville.

One of the exhibits to be offered the grand jurors will be the letters exchanged by the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, for several months prior to their murder.

Chief Detective James A. Mason has announced that the state has two new witnesses.

THREE KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF BOOZE STILL

Bomb Believed to Have Been Responsible Which Destroyed Building

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Police today worked on the theory a bomb caused last night's explosion and fire in a moonshine distillery resulting in the death of three persons and the injury of at least nine others.

Joseph Verdoni was under police guard in a hospital today and may be charged with manslaughter as the result of an explosion which killed his wife and baby daughter and a neighbor's son and injured at least nine others last night. The police attribute the explosion to alleged moonshine stills under Verdoni's store.

The explosion occurred in a mixed foreign quarter of the city, a melting pot for eleven different nationalities. Two buildings were wrecked.

In the ruins of one building, which was swept by flames, police and firemen found the wreckage of two stills. The original report of the firemen was that one of the stills had exploded.

Later investigations developed the bomb theory. It was learned that former occupants of the building had been slain by bombs and that threats had been made against the lives of families who up to last night lived in the structure.

The ground floor of the building in which the distillery was located, was occupied by a grocery store and the living quarters of the man who owned it—Joseph H. Verdoni and his family.

Verdoni is in a hospital suffering from severe burns. His wife, Paulina, 35, and her 15-months-old baby were burned to death. Firemen found the bodies with the child clasped in its mother's arms.

Steve Bottino, 11, one of the six children of Joseph Bottino, who lived on the second floor, died in a hospital.

Immediately after the explosion flames enveloped the building, trapping the occupants.

Frank Braband, battalion fire chief, carried three children from the burning building and his chauffeur, Charles Bratt, rescued several others.

SLOWLY SINKING.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 17.—General Luke E. Wright, former secretary of war, was reported in an extremely critical condition today. His life has been despaired of and he is gradually growing weaker.

MRS. PHILLIPS' SMILE FAILED TO ACQUIT HER

Women on Jury Were in Favor of Sending Her to Gallows

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—The men members of the jury which found Mrs. Clara Phillips guilty of second degree murder for beating Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Mendows to death with a hammer, were quoted today as admitting had it not been for the defendants smile, she probably would have been convicted of first degree murder, without a recommendation for clemency, thus making death the only penalty.

They said Mrs. Phillips seemed to study them, one at a time, and to ash frequent smiles at them, while she turned an apparently stocial back on the spectators in the court room.

But the women jurors were not affected by it, it was stated, as all three favored a verdict which would have sent Mrs. Phillips to the gallows. They found a compromise was necessary to avoid disagreement.

While the defense planned to ask a new trial next Monday, the time set for passing sentence, which may be any period of years from ten to life, the state counsel said they had no comment to make on the verdict.

POPULARITY OF BUDDIES CAUSES FIGHT

Minneapolis, Nov. 17. — Angered when girls at a dance hall insisted upon dancing with a preference for soldiers a gang of forty civilians pursued twenty soldiers homeward bound on a street car last night, halted the car, cut the trolly rope, overpowered the motorman, beat up the men in uniform and was engaged in a battle royal when gun squads answering a riot call arrived on the scene. The gun squad clubbed 12 men into submission and arrested them, police reported today.

Black eyes, bleeding noses and a wrecked street with windows smashed, gates torn off and seats smeared with blood, greeted the police when they arrived on the scene.

Traffic was halted for thirty minutes.

Eleven of the twelve civilians were sentenced to ten days each in the work house in police court this morning. The twelfth, a youth of 17, is being held for juvenile court.

Played Hookey Is Electrocuted

(By the Associated Press)

Duluth, Nov. 17.—Tempted by the sunshine of the first clear day in Duluth in two weeks to "play hookey," Marvin Newman, 16, high school sophomore, was instantly killed when he climbed into a maze of high powered electric wires to dislodge a football with which he and a companion, Carl Anderson, 12, had been playing.

548 NUMBER OF KILLED IN EARTHQUAKE

Partial Estimate of Those Injured Is Placed at 837

BIG PROPERTY LOSS

Shipping Interests Report Heavy Losses on Coast Of Chile

(By the Associated Press.)

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 17.—Revised figures given out by the minister of the interior place the total of those killed in last Saturday's earthquake at 548, which is considerably below the earlier reports.

The number of injured is only partly estimated, the total being set at 837, but those coming under this category in Vallenar and Chanaral as described in the report as "innumerable."

Going into details, the report says that the destruction at Antofagasta consisted of the partial demolition of some privately owned moles, the loss of a number of boats and damage to the wireless plant. At Taltal eight boats were lost.

Vallenar city is in ruins, with 333 dead and the injured "innumerable" but estimated at around 660. Twelve prisoners were killed and 18 injured in the collapse of the jail.

The entire lower section of Chanaral was raised, the commercial quarters, railway station, a school and the work shops being among the buildings destroyed. Seventeen are dead and many injured.

At Copiapo approximately half the houses were destroyed and others rendered uninhabitable. The jail, law court, theater and church were all destroyed, and the hall, post office and departmental engineers offices badly damaged. The dead there number 64. A hospital has been established in a motion picture theater, but only 48 patients can be accomodated at one time.

Thrusts Corpses From Graves

The earthquake was particularly violent in the vicinity of the Copiapo cemetery, the movement thrusting a number of corpses from their graves. Debris obstructs the canals, causing inundations, and soldiers are pulling down the tottering walls.

At Caldera the tidal waves carried away the railroad station, work snops and customs house, and destroyed the mole. There were no casualties. Similar damage was suffered at Carrizal Bajo. The town of Carrizal also it in ruins.

Freirina was destroyed. Eighteen were killed in the town, and sixty in the district. At Huasco the tidal wave caused small damage, but eight deaths. At Huasco Sajo twelve are dead. At Vicuna public building are complete ruins.

Houses Demolished

The extent of the damage at Rivadavia was considerable, but has not been definately established. At La Serena thirty houses are unhabitable the town hall bady damaged and a hospital belonging to the Arica regiment destroyed. Three persons were injured.

The Victoria quarter of Coquimbo was swept away by the tidal waves, the railroad station was destroyed and the building of Grace and Company demolished. Twenty four are dead and 13 are injured.

The town of Tongoi, was destroyed but there were no casualties.

Three more earth shocks were felt yesterday at Copiapo, one at 8 p. m. being particularly violent.

The Sanitary relief column which arrived on Wednesday at Copiapo from Antofagasta is proceeding to Vallenar, although the railway is not yet repaired.

Campaign Teams Meet For Final Instructions

One hundred and ten members of teams who will start out Monday in the Commercial club campaign will have their final meeting tonight with Col. Bob Simpson and Lieut Col. P. R. Fields. A supper will be held at 6:30 p. m. at the Grand Pacific, and Monday all workers will start out to enlist a broad membership in the club.

WOMAN WHO KILLED HUSBAND IS ACQUITTED

Beckley, W. Va., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Alice Anderson, freed from a charge of murder last night was receiving congratulations today. A jury which had listened to her story of tears, and of mistreatment by her husband who until his death was judge of the Raleigh criminal court in which she was tried before his successor, Judge W. H. Rariden, deliberated only half an hour before announcing its decision.

Judge John Anderson was shot the night of July 20. Mrs. Anderson admitted she fired the shots in self-defense. Four negroes served on the jury.

NEW REGIME WELCOMED BY BRITISH PRESS

Praise for Election Results Seems General Over British Isles

END OF COMPROMISE

Nation Sees in Returns Complete Repudiation of Coalition Idea

(By the Associated Press)

London, Nov. 17.—Greatification is expressed by most of the morning newspapers at the result of the parliamentary elections. Some of the liberal newspapers join with the conservative press in finding grounds for satisfaction.

They recognized the outcome means a return to party government and the disappearance of all they most disliked in the survival of the coalition long after they regarded its dissolution as due.

"We are rid," says the Westminester Gazette," of the compromises and subterfuges which have made parliament contemptible."

The Daily News declares the election "has blown a breath of clean air into our discredited parliamentary institutions" and rejoices at the establishment of "a strong, effective and able opposition."

The Daily Herald exulting over labor's successes, anticipates another election within 18 months, and says: "if meantime we play our cards boldly and skilfully we ought to have a labor government without doubt."

The Times regards the result with deep satisfaction and says it demolishes the last argument for maintenance of the coalition. The newspaper would have preferred that the balance be held more evenly between the liberals and laborties, but believes the country nothing to fear and much to gain from ventilation of the labor party's ideas in parliament.

Several newspaper derive satisfaction from the fact that the conservatives majority is not so over whelmingly large, thus enabling the opposition to exercise a wholesome check up on the predominant party.

HOOVER WILL FACE CHARGE AT MADISON

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 17.—Having wired Madison, Wis. authorities that he would waive extradition, Walter M. Hoover's amateur sculling champion, was preparing today to leave for the Wisconsin city, where a charge of manslaughter has been preferred against him in connection with the death in an automobile accident of Herbert Seeley, 55, Oregon, Wis., farmer. Hoover's attorney said the champion would be ready to make the trip not later than Monday.

Hoover was technically placed in the custody of Duluth police police yesterday when the Madison authorities wired information of the manslaughter charge. Chief of Police Warren E. Pugh released the champion on his own recognizance after hearing his story of the accident.

Seeley, a passenger in an automobile which collided with the champion's car while the latter was returning from the American Legion convention at New Orleans, was fatally injured when the machine turned turtle. Hoover sai a policeman who witnessed the accident exonerated him at the time The champion's attorneys termed the criminal action "an attempt to pave the way for a civil suit."

EMBARGO ON SOFT COAL.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 17.—An embargo on soft coal to the head of the lakes to facilitate the movement of hard coal from the lower lake docks is expected to go into effect tomorrow, according to unofficial reports received by local vessel men today.

Mohammedan Ruler Exercised Over Fate Under New Regime

FRUSTRATE COUP.

(By the Associated Press)

Constantinople, Nov. 17.—An attempt by the Kemalists to run the interned Turkish destroyer Akhissar disguised as a merchantman, out of the Golden Horn past the allied control was frustrated last night.

Constantinople, Nov. 175.—Mohammed VI, the Turkish Sultan, has fled from Constantinople on a British war ship bound for Malta.

Upon embarking the Sultan emphasized that he was not abdicating but merely removing himself from immediate danger.

The Sultan wrote to Lieutenant General Harington, the British commander in chief on Wednesday evening stating he considered his life to be in danger and would like British protection.

The Sultan has been greatly exercised over his status since the Turkish nationalist assembly at Angor recently voted to deprive him of civil authority and declared the Caliph, or religious head of Islam, would hereafter be selected from the imperial house by vote of the grand national assembly.

With nationalist military elements coming into Constantinople, and knowing the Angora authorities would eventually control the Turkish capital the Sultan and his advisers have been puzzled as to what course to pursue. Most of his guard went over to the nationalists and Constantinople dispatches have pictured him virtually at the mercy of the Kemalists. There were rumors he had abdicated or was about to do so but these were not confirmed. There were strong intimations the Sultan would as the allies for protection if necessary.

Political motives may be read by some into the flight of the Sultan on a British war ship. Great Britain concededly has strong motives for seeing no harm comes to him because of the millions of mussulmen within her domain, many of whom have disagreed with the Turkish nationalists, disputing their power to take action affecting all Islam. The Sultan's status too is likely to come up at the Lausanne conference and it appears probable that when his status is debated there the Caliph will be under British protection—a refugee at Great Britain's naval base in the mediterranean.

SOCIALIST LEADER KILLED

London, Nov. 17.—Hussien Hilmidi Bey, president of the Turkish socialist party, has been assassinated, in Constantinople, says an Exchange-Telegraph dispatch from that city today. The crime was ascribed to political motives.

Appearance of Mussolini Before Cabinet Success

(By the Associated Press)

Rome, Nov. 17.—Premier Mussolini's first appearance before the Italian chamber proved a great personal success. He spoke to the deputies as he had addressed the leaders of his Fascisti legions, and his orders were received with similar apparent obedience.

He announced his foreign and internal policies and warned his adversaries that the Fascisti had come to stay. He did not ask, but demanded a vote of confidence in his government, declaring that if the deputies refused, their mandates would be withdrawn.

His bitterest enemies, who had looked forward to his encounter with the experienced politicians on their own battle field, were disappointed and his friends are saying that he the greatest greatest leader Italy has seen since Crispi, and that the Fascisti rule will endure.

Congratulations were showered on the youthful leader from all sides after he had concluded his exposition of the government's program all the parliamentary groups joined in the applause with the exception of the extremists, who abstained from displaying any emotion. In the lobbies afterward the expression was heard many times repeated, that in Mussolini, Italy, has found the leader for which she has been looking for many years.

Although in a few cases national anthems date back several centuries, none assumed its representative character until comparatively recently.

LOCAL HUNTERS GOING STRONG

Much Game Is Bagged Within The Last Week in This Section

Several hunting parties of Bismarck citizens have reported unusual success within the last few days, particularly in bagging many fine northern ducks found on the lakes and ponds in this section.

A party composed of Roland Gross, Art Bauer, J. S. Johnson and Harry Larson hunted two days, Saturday and Monday, at the southern end of Long Lake, staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Admundson. They returned with the limit, 115 ducks and 5 geese. The geese were large white ones.

B. E. Jones reported seeing whistling cranes, which have not been numerous in this section for a considerable time. They are among the fatherest north summer birds and are now migrating south. The birds weigh 35 to 40 pounds and fly at a speed, it is estimated, of 85 to 90 miles an hour with the wind.

Numerous citizens have brought down deer within the last few days.

LARGEST CIVIC DINNER IN THE HISTORY OF CITY

will put into effect immutable laws, he said, stating that every city to be growing and spirited must have ideals, loyalty and organization.

"I wonder if you people here ever think of the glorious history of this state, if you think of this as a city of 8,000 or 9,000 souls or do you think of it as a city in the future, with a new capitol dominating the hills to the north, with great merchandise stores on the corners, a great and teeming city."

Dr. Jaynes told his audience that every city which prospers and grows must have ideals, and that "no city becomes great until it is greatly thought and brooded and dreamed over."

"What is the soul of a city?" he asked. "It is the prevailing mind of the citizenship of Bismarck—that is the soul of the city and you'll never rise above this."

Impressing upon his auditors the necessity of a forward-looking citizenship Dr. Jaynes said that "what the nation is in the abtract the city is in the concrete, and the highest expression of patriotism in peace can be found in unselfish service in your city."

Duties to the nation can not be discharged merely by voting and paying taxes, he said. He urged participation in civic affairs.

"No man has a right in his home city to stand back and curl his lips and critically say "why, what has this organization done" until he joins some organization and tries himself to do something for the good of his community," he asserted.

Dr. Jaynes spoke of the dangers of factionalism in a city. He said he could show the audience cities up and down the land who are stagnant because little groups and factions are fighting one another, cities in which sometimes national politics have been allowed to creep in and divide citizens.

He reminded all present that the city naturally will be what they make it, that it was here that his hearers were finding opportunities, raising children, enjoying the protection of the law.

"You owe something to this city," he said. "You have no right to live here unless you do something unselfish for this city without expectation of reward," he declared.

It is necessary, he said that the ideals of a city and loyalty to it shall be taken out of the clouds and put upon the ground. No victory, he said, is won by individuals, but only by organized, cohesive, aggressive forces.

"The modern Chamber of Commerce becomes a community organization, a community clearing house, through which the high minded citizenship can function to bring about a better community," he said. This means, he said, not merely new industries, but everything which adds to the prosperity and happiness of the majority of the people in the community. It is an organization to correlate all the community activities, to build a fund of good will."

"Remember," said Dr. Jaynes, "it is the aggressive, united spirit of the citizenship that makes cities what they are."

Among the guests were Dr. R. A. Bolton, postmaster of Jamestown, and Andrew Haas, secretary of the Jamestown Commercial club, and E. A. Tostevin, president of the Mandan club. The dinner was in charge of the following committee: Burt Finney, chairman; Mrs. W. E. Butler, E. V. Lahr, A. W. Lucas, C. W. McGray, Miss H. Nielson, J. C. O'Berg, Robert Webb.

The flowers used on the tables were sent to local hospitals after the dinner.

GREB'S RIVAL COMES FROM GOOD STOCK

By NEA Service.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 17.—Jim Delaney, the flatic sensation of the west, who is shortly to meet Harry Greb, comes from fighting stock.

Delaney happens to be a second cousin of John C. Heenan, American heavyweight champion of years ago. It is on his mother's side that Jim descends from Heenan, she being a cousin of the former title holder.

Jim appears to be capable of upholding the prominence of the Heenan line in ring history.

When doping out Delaney's championship possibilities think of the first half of his signature, James J. How outstanding it is in the history of the game, James J. Corbett and James J. Jeffries. Furthermore, the front name of every heavyweight champion in the past 100 years, with the exception of Bob Fitzsimmons, starts with the letter "J."

There is John L. Sullivan, Jack Dempsey, Jack Johnson and others. All of which might be taken as another forecast of the entrance of Jaes J. Delaney into the list of pugilistic stardom.

Delaney, like Georges Carpentier, began his ring career as a batam. He began fighting at 17 years of age, and has gradually outgrown each class until he is now a full-fledged middleweight and seems destined to shortly enter the heavyweight class.

Mike Gibbons, who has looked after the development of Delaney, says that he feels confident that the youngster will some day win the title now held by Jack Dempsey. What is more to the point, Mike says it won't take very many years either to turn the trick.

U. S. ENVOY IN PARIS DURING WAR IS DEAD

William Graves Sharp, 63, Dies at Home in Elyria, Ohio

Elyria, Ohio, Nov. 17.—William Graves Sharp, former ambassador to France, died at his home shortly before noon here today. Mr. Sharp had been ill for several days.

Mr. Sharp who was 63, spent several months in Europe last summer in the interest of his health and, according to friends has not been very well since.

All of the five Sharp children were summoned to his bedside late yesterday when his condition became serious. Mr. Sharp was American ambassador to France five years, serving in Paris during the world war. He resigned his post about a year after the armistice was signed.

Mr. Sharp's condition became worse this morning and a Cleveland specialist was summoned by attending physicians. Death came an hour later.

Mr. Sharp was born at Mount Gilead.

When he became of school age, Sharp moved to Elyria with his grand parents and entered the public schools. After he was graduated from high school he entered the University of Michigan. In 1881 he was graduated from the law department and was admitted to the Ohio bar.

WEATHER AIDS N. D. RAILROADS

Demand for Cars Slightly Reduced at Road Tieup

Bad weather which has prevented farmers from hauling grain to town has caused a marked decrease in complaints to the state railroad commission of lack of grain cars, according to reports from the commission. The railroads have been enabled to make space in many blocked elevators and improvement also is reported in the stock car situation. The serious blockade of many elevators, however, has not been ended.

Reports of lignite coal shipped indicate that production now is just about normal, and shipments have not increased as was expected because of the coal shortage. During the week ending Nov. 11, 31,430 tons of lignite coal was shipped and in the week previous shipments amounted to 35,417 tons.

INDIFFERENT TO CHARGE.

Alexandria, S. D., Nov. 17.—Joe Anderson, son of Mrs. Mary Anderson, held in St. Paul on a vagrancy charge is now in the employ of the Northern States Power Company, which is running a high tension line through this part of the state. Young Anderson, according to statements made by foremen of the company, has been with the construction gang for several weeks. When told of his mother's detention in St. Paul Young Anderson expressed no concern over his circumstances.

UPHOLDS TRADITION.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Evanston, where is situated the headquarters of the W. C. T. U. upheld its tradition a reputation or dryness by defeating the Illinois wet referendum on November 7, by a majority of 346 votes. This was shown today by completion of the official canvass. It was erroneously reported a few days ago that Evanston voted wet. The official figures showed 4,141 in favor of beer and light wines and 4,487 against.

PACKERS SHOW DISTRIBUTION OF PRODUCTS

Chicago, Nov. 17.—The two packing firms, permission, for whose merger is being considered by government officials, Armour and Company and Morris and Company, cover the world with their distributing systems.

From a ring of packing houses in Chicago trade routes ending in branch houses and foreign agencies of both companies shot out to Nome, Capetown, Calcutta and London, Buenos Aires and Aukland. Thousands of refrigerator cars with the right of way over everything but fast passenger trains, and fleets of specially equipped ships, take chilled and frozen meats to the remote quarters of the globe.

The citizen of Cairo, Egypt, who longs for a porterhouse from a corn fed Iowa herford can get it through the distributing system of either of these packers.

Surgeons in Vienna get supplies from the stockyards; South-sea islanders send there for their soap, Japan buy bovine gall stones (and the use to which they are put is not generally known among the packers themselves;) Germany, albumen, and Poland, fertilizer, all from the same scarce. The "big five" packers are everywhere—not one in each center, but in many cases two, three and five in every locality. Frequently their branch houses are next door to the other, their packing houses and fertilizer factories within a stone's throw. Their iced refrigerator cars, a thousand miles away from their point of departure, come in on the same siding.

PILSUDSKI EXPECTED TO KEEP POWER

(By the Associated Press)

Warsaw, Nov. 17.—Re-election of Marshal Pilsudski as chief of state appears, in view of the latest returns from the senatorial elections, to hang upon a possible agreement between the nationalists and former Premier Witos, pleasant wing of radical groups, so as to create a working majority in the diet and senate.

Unless there is some such working agreement the present returns indicate the non-Polish group will hold the balance of power, as the nationalists and radicals appear to have each won roughly two fifths of the diet and senate seats.

Marshal Pilsudski, whose backing is found principally in the radical party, is considered certain to be elected by the radicals with the aid of non-Polish votes if the nationalists do not, through some alliance get into control.

Both houses of the national assembly—meets November 28 and the presidental election is expected to occur the middle of December.

PIRATES TAKE LIQUOR SHIP

(By the Associated Press)

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 17.—Capture by pirates Wednesday night of the schooner Daisy, laden with whiskey, cost him $37,000, Larry Talbert, owner declared this morning. The Daisy was overhauled, it is asserted, in American waters by a fast cruiser, whose crew posed as customs officers. The crew of the Daisy was put ashore, according to reports, and the pirates made off with the schooner.

Talbert said his craft was engaged in a legitimate enterprise. She had cleared from Vancouver, for Ensenada, Mexico.

STATE CASES ARE ARGUED

The supreme court today has under consideration the appeal by the state from the decision of Judge Cole of Fargo granting change of venue to Kidder county in the case brought against John Bloom, L. C. Pettibone and George Hogue alleging fraud in the purchase by the fish and game board of land from Mr. Pettibone in Kidder county for a game preserve. Assistant Attorney General George Shafer argued in behalf of the state, maintaining the case should be tried in Cass county, while William Lemke appeared as attorney for the defendants.

The court also heard arguments in the case of Harry Dunbar, former state license inspector, cited for contempt of court by Judge Nuessle at Jamestown. J. K. Murray appeared for Dunbar while States Attorney Louis G. Teiner appeared to resist the appeal.

Physician Surprised

"Hearing of some good results from the use of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy I decided to try it on a chronic case of indigestion and gastritis I was interested in. INSANE ASYLUM CATCHES FIRE BUT NO LIVES ARE LOST

(By the Associated Press)

Quebec, Nov. 17.—The Beaupre insane asylum, where Adelard Delorme, former priest, is confined for the murder of his half brother, caught fire today. The blaze started in the work shops in the rear of the building and threatened to spread. The institution is one of the largest of its kind in the dominion.

The fire was brought under control after a hard fight and did not reach the main building.

EXECUTE STEPP.

McKinney, Tex., Nov. 17.—Ezell Stepp, sentenced to hang for the murder of Hardy Mills, will be executed in the Collins county jail shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, it was indicated at the sheriff's office today.

The body of Mills was found in a well near here 15 days after the alleged murder, Sept. 9.

Lord Kelvin estimated that the world is 20,000,000 years old, but there are few, if any, geologists who do not contend that its age is much greater than that.

FARMER SAYS IT MADE A NEW MAN OF HIM

"I could hardly believe, some of the wonderful things I read about Tanlac, but since the medicine has fixed me up so fine, I know they are facts," declared Fred Beinke, well-known farmer of Rosemount, Minn., while in St. Paul recently.

"I was in mighty bad shape for two years and was in a terribly run-down condition. The little I ate soured on my stomach and gas formed so bad it caused me to suffer for hours. I had rheumatism, too, and at times it just seemed that every joint in my body was aching. I felt miserable all the time and could hardly get about to lok after things.

"Six bottles of Tanlac was all it took to make a new man out of me. It put an end to my stomach trouble in short order, I sleep like a top and never have an ache or pain. I don't hesitate a moment to recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

NUESSLE LEAD IS NOW 1,002

(By the Associated Press)

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 17.—The lead of Judge Nuessle independent over Seth Richardson, nonpartisan, for the supreme court bench, was still 1,002 today with 2,117 precincts of about 2,130 in the state reported. A reversal in McLean county returns last night resulted in cutting Nuessle's previous lead.

RECEIVE REPLY.
(By the Associated Press)

London, Nov. 17.—The British government has received from the United States government a reply to its recent note concerning the consulate at New Castle-On-Tyne, which was ordered closed by the United States government when the British authorities some time ago cancelled the exequator of Consul Slater and Vice Consul Brooks.

Officials declined to discuss the reply or to reveal the nature of its contents. It was said that the note was "in a form which apparently calls for an answer, which will go forward in due course."

(Established 1873)

HOLDING TWO JOBS

A woman can run a home and a job too if she has brains.

This is the opinion expressed by four married women out of every five of 250 whose names appear in the current America "Who's Who," according to results obtained and printed in last week's issue of the Literary Digest.

All the women who have answered the question concede that it is a difficult job to rear a family properly and succeed in a profession at the same time, but they maintain that women with good physicial health and mental vigor can accomplish it. Many women, however, they affirm are not fitted to do both, and should not attempt it.

To have interests out-side of the home broadens a woman's vision—allows her to take a more intelligent interest in the direction of the life of her children, makes it possible for her to give them greater assistance, a more sympathetic understanding, and in every way to promote their welfare more intelligently. Ellen Spencer Mussey, honorary dean of the Washington College of Law writes:

"In a wide experience covering over thirty years, I have seen more neglect by the mother in the so-called leisure class than by the industrial mother or the professional one."

None of the women lay down rules by which the thing can be accomplished. The problem is not yet old enough to have developed accepted conventions to serve as guides to the woman who decides upon a full life including both home and career.

"Women must find their own way. Their financial position has much to do in determining the career upon which a woman enters.

"It seems to me that the woman who brings into her home and to her children a round experience and knowledge of the world and interest in impersonal questions is an infinitely wiser and more satisfactory guide and companion to them in their childhood, their youth, and their maturity than the mother who has spent her life dealing only with the mechanics of homemaking.

"Not all women, naturally, as not all men, are fitted for a career. Many women find their complete fulfillment in the physical care of their little ones—and, let us add, in their mental development to the ages when they leave their homes. But these women often present one of the saddest problems of modern life. Families no longer live in groups. When children grow up and marry, they leave the parental home. The mother's excessive interest—or even affection—is more often than not resented. She finds she can no longer live upon her affection for her children. The woman who has been exclusively a homemaker and a mother finds herself, still comparatively young, with a long life ahead of her, with no occupation and no interest. What can she do? It is often too late for her to develop a useful interest or a useful life and she remains a lonely and unhappy woman.

"But the woman who has achieved a career can share many interests with her boys and girls to the end of her life," says Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, president of the Whitehouse Leather Products Co.

No question is arousing more discussion than the question of whether a woman can have a career in business, or the professions and still be a good homemaker. The subject has been given particular prominence by "This Freedom," a best seller written by the English author A. S. M. Hutchinson, in which the woman follows her career while her children come to a bad end.

The hundreds of women in America who have successfully followed careers on the stage, as writers, editors, prima donnas, politicians, and various other lines protest that the conclusions reached by the author in his book are far fetched and absolutely untrue in the case where the woman has intelligence combined with ambition. The success of these women both in their career and as mothers of families of which they can be proud disprove the author's conclusions.

Because so many women fail as homemakers and mothers is not because they are following professions, assert these women. It's because they are not fitted to become the head of a household and a business or professional woman at the same time.

As Helen B. Montgomery, president of the Woman's American Baptist Foreign missionary society says, "Perhaps not all women should marry. I am quite sure that those who plan to shift the burden of responsibility for the care of their children onto others should ont marry."

All women are not constitutionally fitted to run both a home and follow a career. They may, however, follow either one or the other with success.

To emphasize the fact that not all women are fitted to follow a career and establish a home at the same time, we have the testimony of some brilliant women, such as Nazimova who says, "Either the work or the home has to suffer." Mrs. Robert E. Peary of Arctic fame declares, "I adhere to the old saying that it is impossible to serve two masters at once and do it well."

Women with such opinions are in the minority. The majority hold that "She serves best who serves most," as does Anna D. Olesen, who was a candidate for senator from Minnesota. Mme. Johanna Gadski, grand opera singer, Mary Roberts Rinehart, novelist Maud Murray Miller, writer and lecturer on social subjects, Helen H. Gardner, U. S. Civil Service commissioner, Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw, social worker, Amelita Galli-Curci, opera singer,, Olga Petrova, actress and playwright, and many other women emphatically affirm that a woman can successfully follow a career and run a home at the same time.

Most any man can be popular by keeping his opinions to himself.

Do your Christmas mailing early and avoid the pickpockets.

STATE ELECTION RESULTS

It is now obvious from the returns already in that the entire Republican state ticket was successful in the election a week ago. Pluralities of candidates over the candidates of the Farmer-Labor ticket range from about 16,000 to 60,000, the former representing the margin by which Governor Preus was voted a second term.

The average vote for Democratic candidates for state offices is around 65,000, and the average vote for Farmer-Labor candidates is more than three times as great, showing that the Democratic party this year, as two years ago, is at a low ebb in voting power. For the senatorship Mrs. Olesen received a vote about double that of the other candidates on the Democratic ticket, indicating that a considerable number of Republicans—probably for the most part women—favored her over Senator Kellogg.

There will be many new faces in the next legislature, but it remains to be seen to what extent the new members will be disposed to subscribe to and help along the general movement that has come to be thought of as the Nonpartisan League program. Indications are there will be a great variety of shades of political thought and that congulations into groups or blocs will depend on what comes before the legislature and on the spirit in which it is offered. Theoretically, the legislature is not chosen on a partisan basis, but the nonpartisan, or unpartisan, character of the lawmaking body is largely a fiction. There doubtless will be very definite alignments before the session is many weeks old.

The Nonpartisan League program was tried out in North Dakota. It was not successful there. How much of the failure was due to the inherent weakness of the program itself, and how much to ineptitude, or worse, of the men entrusted with putting it into practice, is something that can be studied by Minnesota legislators to the profit of the state. It seems to have been pretty well demonstrated by the North Dakota experiment that the people of this country are not ready for a socializing of the state such as was attempted under Nonpartisan League auspices, if indeed it was not demonstrated that the whole adventure was predicted on a fallacy.

While the unrest disclosed by the balloting last Tuesday seems to have found in inspiration in general rather than in state conditions, some of it pointed to localized protest. If the new and old members of the next legislature will get together in a friendly way and try honestly to discover what is in the minds of the voters, they may be able to render a very notable service to Minnesota. A chip-on-the-shoulder spirit, resulting in challenges and antagonisms, cannot be a good thing for the state.—Minneapolis Tribune.

THE RED CROSS ROLL-CALL

Joining the American Red Cross should be looked upon as a responsibility and opportunity of citizenship in the United States. This organization, unique even among Red Cross societies of the world, comes nearer representing in its purposes the world idealism of America than any other single institution, because it is all-embracing in its membership and all-merciful in its emergency service to those in sudden need from fire, famine, flood, pestilence or war.

The Government cannot act in many cases, and in some it cannot act with promptness. The Red Cross, representing as it does many millions (including that splendid oncoming organization, the Junior Red Cross), should be so maintained as to be as well prepared for instant response to a great national or international emergency as a fire department is to answer a call to a fire. It must be an Always Ready Company. If we had to wait in every disaster until this company of relief could be reorganized, most of the suffering would be past relieving. Promptness is of the essence of relief.

The roll-call begins today. At the end of it the officers in charge should be able to report to the National Chairman, Judge Payne, in Washington, and through him to the President of the Red Cross, who is also President of the United States, that every citizen in Greater New York is either "present or accounted for."—New York Times.

OWES THEM NOTHING

Now that the Republican control of the U. S. Senate is tottering in the balance, the Republican leaders, who have made such a hash of things, are glad and anxious to count Lynn J. Frazier as a Republican.

Yet when the national organization was asked for support, endorsement and financial assistance for the regular Republican nominees for the Senate from North Dakota, it was withheld and refused.

Pride cometh before a fall and a hasty spirit before destruction. Those leaders felt so secure that they figured they could get along without Frazier because they knew, if he were elected, they could not control him.

It is different now. They hope with the help of his vote to organize the Senate and retain the committee chairmanships and all the perquisites. Lynn J. Frazier goes to Washington a free man in every respect and will do as seems good to him, remembering his treatment at the hands of the leaders, who now find him very necessary to their plans.—Fargo Courier-News.

THE MAN WITH STEEL FINGERS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

M. Jonquelle, greatest of French detectives, was ushered into the presence of the strange and fear-compelling

LORD VALLEYS, the English lord who had just inherited the title and estates of his murdered uncle, Lord Winton.

Three lives had stood between the Lord Valleys and the wealth of his uncle. But both of Lord Winton's sons were killed in the great war. Only one, who married an American left an heir and this heir, a daughter, was barred by English law from inheritance.

Then came the murder of Lord Winton and the inheritance of the estate by the strange, powerful and morose Lord Valleys.

CHAPTER II

"The murder of Lord Winton, the wise English authorities attributed to me," Lord Valleys continued coolly.

"They spared no effort to fix it upon me. That they were unable to do so is not, I think, attributable to this thing which you call Providence.

"It is attributable rather, I think to the intelligence of my legal counsel and to myself."

He looked directly at Monsieur Jonquelle. His big, placid face lifted; his voice was even and unhurried.

"I am not embarrassed to discuss it, monsieur," he continued. "When the war had ended with the death of Lord Winton's sons, I was, by virtue of what you have so aptly called 'the accident of birth,' next in succession to the title. I thought it both advisable and courteous to present myself to Lord Winton, and I went to England for that purpose.

"Lord Winton was an eccentric person. As he grew older, and after the death of his sons, his eccentricity became more dominant. I did not find him on his estates at Ravenscroft; he was at this time in London in a little old house which the family has always owned in a street toward Covent Garden.

"On the night that I called to see Lord Winton, it was quite late. I found him alone in the house. He seemed disturbed to see me, but he was courteous, and I cannot complain of his welcome. He seemed, however, not to realize that I had grown into a man. He seemed to regard me as a queer, foreign lad to whom he owed some obligation of hospitality."

Lord Valleys stopped. He leaned a little forward in the chair, and his voice took on a firmer note.

"Monsieur," he said, "I am saying to you now a thing to which I testified at the English trial, and which was not believed. Lord Winton told me that he expected a person to call on him within a very few minutes and to remain for perhaps an hour. He asked me to return at the end of an hour. I got up to go As I went down the stairway, a hansom, entering the street from the direction of the city, stopped before the door. The door was closed but the sound was clearly audible

"Lord Winton, who was behind me, came also down the steps. On a console in the hall were several candles which the servants, according to custom, had placed there. An idea came to Lord Winton, for he stopped me as my hand was on the door to go out. He took up one of these candles in a tall brass candlestick, and touching me on the arm, handed it to me.

"'Instead of going out,' he said, 'suppose you go down into the wine-cellar. There should be some bottles of Burgundy of a famous year stored there by your grandfather. See if you can find them, and we shall have a glass of wine with our talk. I have a great deal to say to you, my nephew. The wine will sustain us.'

"You will see, monsieur, that this idea that I was merely a grown-up lad, come to visit an ancient relative, was quite fixed with Lord Winton. As the servants had gone out, he was sending me, as though I were a lad from Elton, to find the wine for our conversation. He gave me the key, a direction about the steps and doors. He even said there was a box of biscuit on the dining-room table which I should bring up. It was all, you see, monsieur, quite as though I were an undergraduate from some English public school."

The man looked down at his firm, placid hands resting upon and obscuring the arms of the chair in which he sat.

"This," monsieur, he said, "is a portion of my evidence which the English criminal court refused to believe. It was incredibly stupid!"

Monsieur Jonquelle looked up sharply at that sentence.

"The English criminal court," he said, "was even more stupid than you imagine. It was, as you have said, "incredibly stupid."

Lord Valleys made no comment.

"There was only my word for the statement," he said. "I could not prove it, and yet it was the truth.

The man was startled by Monsieur Jonquelle's reply.

"One knew that, although one would have been troubled to describe the evidence. It is precisely the truth," said Monsieur Jonquelle.

Lord Valleys looked steadily at the Prefect for a moment before he spoke.

"I regret, monsieur," he said, "that you were not present in that English court."

The man looked down again at his wonderful hands, steel strong, and as supple as silk; then he went on:

"It happened, however, that this chance, which you question in human affairs, came to my aid. One of the Metropolitan police on duty on this night in the neighborhood of Covent Garden saw a hansom drive away from Lord Winton's door. The time, as nearly as could be fixed, corresponded with the hour which I had indicated in my testimony. And for the first time in the course of the criminal trial, the case for the Crown was shaken. Neither my solicitors nor the Crown were able to discover anything further. The driver of the hansom could not be located, and the one who called that night upon Lord Winton remained a mystery."

Lord Valleys continued to speak deliberately and without emotion.

"I do not know who this person with whom Lord Winton had a midnight appointment, could have been, and I do not know what occurred at that mysterious conference, except of course, the resultant tragedy which was afterward known to everyone.

"I took the candle which Lord Winton gave me and went along the hall to the stairway, which descended into the basement of the house. I had in my hand the key to the wine-cellar.

"The last I saw of Lord Winton in his life was his tall, bowed back as he stooped to open the door, his hand on the latch. He seemed a sort of heavy shadow outlined against the door in the dim light of the gas-jet that burned feebly, lighting the hall behind him."

He made a vague gesture, lifting one of his hands softly from the arm of the chair.

"Here, monsieur, chance or my intelligence failed me. If I had remained a moment—if, in fact, I had looked back as I went down the stairway at the end of the hall, I should have seen Lord Winton's assassin."

The Prefect of Police made no comment, and Lord Valleys continued:

"After some little difficulty, I finally found the door the wine-cellar, opened it and entered. It was very old—one of those huge stone cells which the early English built in their houses in which to store the choice wines of France.

"It seemed to me that this wine-cellar had not been entered in a long time. I was mistaken in this impression. Fortunately for me, it had, from time to time, been looked into by Lord Winton's manservant. I have said 'fortunately,' because this manservant, Staley, was able to confirm my statement.

"The whole of the low vault was cluttered with straw, piled and heaped with it, like a farmer's rick. It was this aspect of the place that gave me the impression that it had not been entered for a long time. And it was true it had not been disturbed for a long time. The walls and the floor of this cellar were stone; the ceiling was of wood crossed with beams dried out like tinder, and the bins, as I have said, were heaped with the straw in which innumerable wine-cases had been packed.

"Lord Winton had described the wine which he wished so that I could not mistake it. But he was not certain in which bin it was to be found, and I had to make a search of very nearly the whole of the cellar. This did not disturb me, for Lord Winton had fixed an hour as the length of the visit of the person whom he expected, and who, in fact, had arrived. And I was not to return until that time. It was, as nearly as I can determine, about eleven o'clock of the night when I went down the steps to the wine-cellar."

The man remained silent a moment as if in some contemplation. Finally he continued:

"An unfortunate accident occurred. In rising from a bin over which I had been stooped, the candle touched a wisp of straw hanging from above, and immediately the dried-out, half-rotten wood of the beamed ceiling flashed into flame."

He paused again.

"I was appalled, but I did not lose my sense of necessity. I undertook to put the fire out. I made a desperate effort against it, there in that underground cell, for I knew the house must burn if this whole wood ceiling took fire. The place filled with smoke. It became very nearly impossible to breathe, but I did not give up the fight against the fire. Finally when I was blinded, choked and very nearly unconscious, I broke open the door leading from the basement of the house and ran out into the street. It seemed that I should never breathe, and I continued to run.

"You know what followed. I was taken up by one of the Metropolitan police; the burning house was entered, and Lord Winton brought out. He was dead! The small blade of a knife had been driven into his body low down on the right side. The wound, ranging upward, was deep. It had severed a vital artery."

The final installment of this thrilling mystery will appear in our next issue.

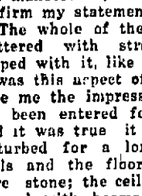
Syrup Pepsin Helps Nature Give Relief

Try it when a Laxative is needed and see the wonderful results

IT is not necessary to take a violent physic for so simple an ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtless parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and coal-tar in the form of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger. People should realize that mercury may salivate and in certain conditions loosen the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause lassitude.



You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will relieve you over night even if the constipation has been chronic for years. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and does not cramp or gripe. Every druggist handles it, and bottles are so generous that the cost amounts to only about a cent a dose. You buy it with the understanding that if it does not do as claimed your money will be refunded. The names of all the ingredients are on the package.

Mrs. A. Arceneaux of Orange, Texas, suffered from constipation for six years and found no relief until she took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin; and Mrs. Gus Anderson of Ball, Kans., corrected her bowel trouble so that she now eats and sleeps normally. Bring a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin into your own home and let the family use it for constipation, biliousness, wind, gas, headaches, flatulency, and to break up fevers and colds.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The Green Wizard lived in the tree-tops.

He was a very magical wizard—the most magical kind, for he could make almost anything. In fact it was he who had made the Green Shoes that Nancy and Nick always wore and which had taken them on such wonderful adventures. He had made them for the Fairy Queen who had given them to the Twins. He had made the Fairy Queen's wand also and the magic automobile of which she was so fond.

He had made lots of other things besides. The magical shovels of the Brownies, and the magical umbrella the weatherman rode; and Mother Goose's broom, and some say—although I'm not sure—that he made Santa Claus' sleigh.

He got such a reputation at last for making magical things that he had more orders than he could fill, and finally, needed help, he sent to the Fairy Queen for advice.

"Why not get Nancy and Nick?" said she at once. "They're fine helpers!"

The Green Whizard thumped his fist in his palm. "The very ticket!" he cried delightedly. "I'll go to see them this minute. For they are smart and brave and aren't a bit afraid of my enemies."

"Your enemies!" exclaimed the good queen in surprise. "I didn't know you had any!"

"Lots!" sighed the Green Wizard, stroking his beard. "Twelve Toots and Eena Meena and Tricky Trixo and Halloo Hallo and the Sour Old Which Who Lives Under the Water-Fall. Everything I make in my workroom they kown about, then they try to get it. Hum ho! A wizard has a hard life."

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE

Betty Compson leads a dual life in her latest Paramount picture, "The Green Temptation," which will be the feature at the Eltinge Theatre, Friday and Saturday. As Genelle, she is an Apache dancer and gem thief in the underworld of Paris, and as Coralyn, a dancer of the Parisian high class theatres. Later, she enters the war as a Red Cross nurse, assuming the name of Joan Parker, and during the conflict comes her regeneration. Thus she plays, as it were, three different characterizations which afford her wonderful opportunities of dramatic portrayal. To sustain these roles competently was no small task, but the star accomplished it with skill. Mahlon Hamilton heads a strong supporting cast.

EVANGELISTS WILL CONDUCT SERVICES HERE

Rev. Bernard and Rev. Renshaw Will Conduct Three-Weeks Service

A series of evangelistic services will be held at the McCabe Methodist Episcopal church beginning on Sunday, Nov. 19th and continuing to Dec. 10th. These services will be under the leadership of the two well known evangelists, Rev. George Bernard and Rev. S. B. Renshaw of Detroit, Mich. Dr. Bernard is a speaker of national reputation and brings a strong gospel message that is free from fanaticism and sensationalism of every kind. His kindly Christian manner and spiritual appear win their way to the hearts of his hearers. Mr. Renshaw, who was a former opera singer, will have charge of the singing and will also be lead as a soloist during the series of meetings.

Services will be held every evening except Saturday at 7:30 at which Dr. Bennard will preach and also on each Sunday morning. Afternoon Bible studies will be conducted on Sunday, Tuesday Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 2:30 o'clock under the direction of Mr. Renshaw.

These meetings will be open to the entire community and a cordial invitation is extended to every citizen of the city. If you are not in the habit of attending church don't miss this. No matter what your religious affiliation is there is something awaiting you. We invite you to share with us the comfort and living power of Jesus Christ. Come to McCabe.

MANY JOIN IN FINAL TRIBUTE

Playmaters of Little "Billy" Bergeson Pallbearers at Funeral

William R. Bergeson, known to all his friends as "Billy," 9-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. R. M. Bergeson, of 501 6th Street was born on July 10, 1913 and died Monday evening, Nov. 13 at 7 o'clock after a lingering illness of almost a year. About the first of last December he had an attack of rheumatism which was not considered serious at first but soon developed heart trouble which eventually took his life. Billy was a patient little sufferer who maintained throughout his long illness such courtesy and gentleness as to win the love and admiration of all who knew him.

Services were held in the Presbyterian Church by Rev. H. C. Postlethwaite Thursday afternoon at 2:30 where many playmates and friends of Billy gathered from the twin cities to pay him tribute, while older folks added to a congregation that was large and deeply sympathetic. The church has never had a more wonderful profusion of flowers, coming from Boston, Detroit, Minneapolis, Jefferson City, Mo., Great Falls, Mont., Elk River, Little Falls, Fairbault, Kenyon, Minn., and other cities and from the many friends of Mandan and Bismarck. The entire chancel of the church was a mass of gorgeous bloom arranged by loving hands that longed to pay homage to a beautiful child life.

Mrs Morgan Morris of Mandan, presided at the organ while Mrs Victor J. La Rose, a dear friend of the family sang, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and Mrs. Frank Barnes and Henry Halverson sang, "I Think When I Read That Sweet Story of Old."

The pall bearers, some little friends of Billy's were Robert Flint, Buelle Quain, Carl Pearson, Morris Kelsven, Harold Carlson, Leslie Stebbins and Duncan Wallace of Bismarck, and Robert Gussner of Mandan. Seven little girls who had been playmates acted as honorary pallbearers. They were Eula and Arline Cameron, Margaret Will, Mary White, Marion Jensen of Bismarck, and Marie Gussner and Vivian Luther of Mandan.

Instant* Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Now there are two great reasons for getting Quaker Oats. One is exquisite flavor. This brand is flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats.

Now there's another style. It is Instant Quaker Oats — the quickest-cooking oats in the world. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, so it means an oat dish almost ready.

Same quality, same flavor. But in Instant Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small thin flakes cook quickly.

Your grocer has both styles. If you want Instant look for "Instant" on the label. Then you can have delicious oats ready in 5 minutes.

CINEMA HIT COMING TO THE CAPITOL

Superb in strength of story and cast "Human Hearts," the Universal-Jewel which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Tuesday of next week for an engagement of three days stands forth prominently among the offerings of recent months as a drama teeming with incidents and action of a compelling variety. House Peters, popular veteran of stage and screen, heads the notable cast.

The picture version of Hal Reid's famous old play presents people from the humbler walks of life who live and love, hate and fight, just as do the people we meet every day. House Peters is cast as a blacksmith, a fine specimen of manhood, a simple son of the Ozark Mountains. His father is a stern and unbending man, but just and honest, who objects to his son's courtship with a pretty maiden who plotted to beat the family out of their coal lands. She really falls in love with him and marries.

WOLVERINES SEE VICTORY OVER BIG TEN

Yost Goal Has Not Been Crossed in Season's Play

Ann Arbor, Mich., 17—Believing the Maize and Blue is headed for a Western Conference championship, supporters of the Michigan varsity football team today set their hearts on the game without a score being registered against the Wolverines. To date the latter three non-conference and two conference games, the Michigan goal line remains uncrossed, while the Yostmen have amassed a total of 115 points, forty-three of these being counted against Ohio State and Illinois.

Michigan football teams have gone through five other seasons without being scored upon, but only one of these occasions was within the last quarter of a century. In 1901, when the Wolverines showed the first flashes of what later won for them the title of a "point a minute" machine, they played eleven games, several of them against strong middle western squads, piled up a total of 550 points, and kept their goal line uncrossed. The other scoreless years for Michigan opponents were 1879, 1885, 1886 and 1887. In these other seasons, however Michigan played but two or three games.

The Yost followng this year believes Michigan's team is the strongest that has been developed in Ann Arbor in years. Some observers go so far as to say it is one of the smoothest running scoring machines ever turned out here.

To win imperishable gridiron glory this year's team must shut out Wisconsin and Minnesota. The Badgers, looked up here as presenting the hardest game on the Wolverine schedule, come to Ferry Field next Saurday. The following week Yost takes his men to Minnesota.

Michigan suporters say this year's team is composed of one of the greatest aggregations of stars ever assembled under the Maize and Blue banner.

Harry Kipke, the halfback whose work has attracted attention throughout the country, is aided by Capron, a fullback who is making a record for line plunging. Kipke, however is the team's "triple threat." His punting has been a feature of all Michigan games this year

Michigan also boasts two of the best ends in the conference. Captain Goebel is an aggressive player who figures in nearly every play. His running mate, Bernie Kirk, has shown some of the flashiest play of the local season. He is an expert open field runner.

Uteritz, the Michigan quarterback, has shown to unusual advantage, his heady play being responsible to a large degree for this year's victories.

The Michigan line although largely composed of green men has in Muirhead, one of the star tackles of the conference. The remainder of the line has shown to advantage, despite the lack of experience on the part of the players.

"Wisconsin will be a tough team to beat," was the word Coach Yost brought back from Minneapolis after scouting the Badger-Gopher fight. The Wisconsin representatives specialize in short passes and the Wolverine guide has turned his attention toward perfecting a defense against such attacks. The Michigan defense in all other departments is at about top form.

The only fly in the Michigan ointment this year is the 0 to 0 score in the Vanderbilt game. But the Maize and Blue adherents are thankful Michigan was not scored upon and not only are voicing their demands for a conference victory, but also for a victory without a score by the opposition.

The Michigan supporters believe Michigan is better than Iowa, another Conference leader because Illinois held the westerners to an 8 to 7 score, while Michigan defeated Illinois with ease. That leaves Wisconsin and Chicago to be reckoned with. Michigan hopes to humble the Badgers here. Then Chicago, in the event it goes through the year unbeaten would have to be eliminated by comparative figures if Michigan was to gain undisputed right to the championship.

KRAUSE READY FOR GO WITH MEDINA MAN

Will Meet Joe Maugs at Wilton Friday Night in 10-Round Affray

Bat Krause came back from Grand Forks, where he boxed Perry Bliven to a ten round draw and is leaving for Wilton, where he boxes Joe Maugs ten rounds Friday. Krause claims he is in good shape for the Wilton match and expects to get a clean cut verdict over the tough Medina battler. All indications are for a big house. Krause has been going good lately and is in good shape.

Thor Jenson, who has been in the hospital for the past three weeks with a sore throat has recovered and will be ready for any one now.

Kid Brady, local bantam weight, and champion of North Dakota has signed to box Freddy Mellhof at Glendive as the semi-windup for the Krause-Perry fight card Nov. 29th. Mellhof will be remembered by fans for his go here with Kid Fogarty last year. Brady also has an offer at Grand Forks on there next card which will be sometime soon.

The North Dakota Athletic club is going along good and expects to put on another show here soon and try and sign Johnny Knauf here with Bat Krause as the main go.

Buck Garrison has signed up with the club and will hereafter box under its colors. Garrison is a hard hitter and with a little training should make them all step. He has boxed some good boys and held his own with them all, he is now training every day and will be ready for action in a short while.

Bismarck now has a good lot of boxers that fight out of here and before winter is over no doubt will have at least one boxer and wrestler in every weight here.

Derby, England, Nov. 17.—False Alarm, by Rattlejack, out of Whitelie, owned by J. H. Hull, won the derby cup handicap of L1250 today. J. Cunlick's Charlebelle was second and Major Worthington's Brinklow, third. Thirteen horses ran.

False Alarm won by three quarters of a length, with Charlebelle a neck ahead of Brinklow.

The betting was: False Alarm, 20 to 1; Charlebelle, 9 to 1, and Brinklow, 20 to 1 against.

Western Football Suffers Nothing in Comparison With the East

By Billy Evans.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 17.—Western football suffers nothing in comparison with the east. The much-touted Harvard eleven was a distinct disappointment in its game with Princeton.

I am basing my comparison between the east and west on some of the games that I have seen between the leading teams of the two sections.

When Princeton played Chicago, I am frank to admit that my sentiments leaned toward Princeton. I have always been a great admirer of the Tigers because of their fighting spirit. Princeton teams never quit.

Best Team Didnt Win.

Chicago had beaten Princeton the previous year and I was pulling for the Tigers to even up the score. Princeton won the Chicago game, but no one could ever convince me that the Tigers were stronger than Stagg's eleven.

Despite my leaning toward Princeton, despite the Tigers' victory, I am of the firm opinion that the best team did not win the game. For three periods the Chicago forwards tore the Princeton line to shreds and the Maroon backs galloped through huge holes as they pleased.

In the last few minutes of the game Princeton realized it could not gain through the Chicago line. Under such conditions there was only one thing to do, open up, and that is just what Princeton did.

The Tigers played risky, yet game football, and took advantage of every break offered. At the close of the first half I felt that Chicago would roll up about 30 points. Yet the game ended 21 to 18 in favor of Princeton.

Havard always boasts a strong line. Against Chicago the Princeton line looked very weak. It seemed that if Harvard's line was up to snuff the Princeton game would be easy for the Crimson. Yet if anything the Harvard line was outplayed by the Tigers.

Tiger Line Much Improved.

In this connection one of two things is possible, either the Harvard line was greatly overrated, or else the foxy Billy Roper has worked wonders with the Tiger line in a few short weeks. Unquestionably the substitution of Howard for Snively plugged a big hole in the Princeton defense. Chicago gained at will through Snively.

On the form that Harvard showed against Princeton it is not up to the standard of Harvard teams. Perhaps the loss of Captain Buell snapped the co-ordination that must exist between the line and the backs. When he dropped out of the lineup, Harvard seemed to flounder about, not getting anywhere in particular.

I would say there is but little difference between the east and west in football and certainly the west suffers nothing by comparison. Michigan and Chicago strike me as having more power and possibilities than either Princeton or Harvard.

PANCHO VILLA HOLDS TITLE

New York, Nov. 17.—Pancho Villa, the fighting Filipino who holds the American flyweight boxing title today had strengthened his chances to fulfill an ambition to duplicate Johnny Bucs feat of holding both the flyweight and bantamweight belts. The aggressive oriental boxer demonstrated convincingly last night that he could concede considerable weight and reach without handicap by decisively whipping Abe Goldstein, New York bantamweight, at Madison Square Garden.

Villa entered the ring weighing 110 pounds and Goldstein scaled 116 1-2. The former's 112-pound title, as a result, was not at stake. The Filipino out-boxed, out-generalled and outpunched Goldstein in nearly every round, and thus got revenge for a reversal at the hands of the New Yorker in one of his first bouts in this country last summer.

WHEAT SHOWS UPWARD TURN AT OPENING

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Nov. 17—Wheat developed an upward tendency today during the early dealings, commission house buying of all grain being the chief factor. Basis for this buying was found largely in reports from Omaha that all offers of corn and oats to the west were accepted overnight at the highest prices yet this season. An advance in Liverpool wheat quotations counted also as a bullish influence. The opening which ranged from ¼c decline to ⅛c advance with December $1.19 to $1.19⅜ and May $1.16½ to $1.16¾, was followed by moderate gains all around.

Profit taking sales in the corn market were readily absorbed. After opening unchanged to ⅜c off, December 71c to 71⅜c, corn scored a general advance.

Eastern demand both export and domestic was extremely slow. The finish was nervous at the same as yesterday's final figures to half cent advance, with December 71⅛c @ ⅛ to 71¼c.

Houses with eastern connections led the buying. Raising of Australian crop estimates received some notice, but ensuing price setbacks proved to be only transient. The close was firm, ⅝c to 1⅛c net higher, with December $1.20¼ to $1.20⅜ and May $1.17½ to $1.17⅝.

Oats started a shade lower to ⅛c higher, December 43⅝c to 43⅞c @ 44c, and then climbed with corn.

Provisions were inclined to sag in the absence of any special demand.

NEWS OF WALL STREET

(By the Associated Press)

New York, Nov. 17.—Opening prices in today's stock market were irregular on resumption of yesterday's selling movement in some low priced rails, independent steel and oil shares. When the early selling orders had been absorbed prices moved up in response to a brisk demand. Dupont was one of the individuals strong spots opening 4½ points higher. Gulf States Steel moved up 2½ points and United States steel improved fractionally but Lackawanna and Crucible were under pressure. Gains of 1 to 2 points also were registered by St. Louis-Southwestern, Omaha, Atchison, Coca Cola, Corn Products, American Sugar, preferred, American Can, Continental Can, American Woolen, Famous Players, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Utah Copper, Marine preferred, Consolidated Gas, American Locomotive, North American and Baldwin. St. Paul, preferred Frisco preferred and Pacific Oil were heavy, each losing a point or more. Foreign exchanges were steady.

While the list in general exhibited a fairly good tone during the morning, the volume of buying orders was considerably lessened when short selling was resumed in a large number of stocks.

Those offerings were mostly confined to ordinarily inactive shares but some of the popular issues, notably Bethlehem "B," Lackawanna steel, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Mexican Petroleum and Pacific Oil were pressed on the market with resultant losses of 1 to 2 points. Fisher Body and Dupont each cancelled their early 4 point gains. Call money opened and renewed at 4½ percent and later dropped to 4.

With the market in the early afternoon presenting numerous points of both strength and weakness speculators were at a loss for a time as to which lead to follow. Some of the low priced oils, rubbers, independent steels and a large assortment of less active industrials were distinctly weak. An equally vigorous opposite course was pursued by many of the recognized leaders, such as Baldwin, Studebaker, United States steel, Corn Products, United States Alcohol, Famous Players and New Haven. The ability of these stocks to move forward despite the liquidation in other quarters eventually caused a better feeling to permeate speculative circles and the entire market again began to move upward.

Better resistance to selling pressure was offered by the general list in today's stock market with the result that more buying orders appeared and closing prices were mainly higher, extreme gains of standard issues ranging from 1 to 3 points. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

CASH WHEAT ABOUT SAME

(By the Associated Press)

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—Very little change occurred in the cash wheat market today. On the whole market was spotted with a snappy early demand for choice wheat and slow to dull market for the culls later. Durum offerings of good quality were still light. Prices were quoted unchanged compared with November. Winter wheat premiums dropped a cent from Thursday's top.

Corn demand was draggy and prices for moxed quality were down further compared with futures.

Oats demand was reported a little better on the average.

Rye demand was strong, chiefly for movement to Duluth.

Barley offerings were hardly as heavy as estimated on the black board and the demand continued general and good. Prices were all of firm, some sought a cent higher in spot.

Flax receipts were quite a bit heavier but there was a fair to good crushing demand at firm premiums.

POET'S CORNER

WHY NOT TRY?

By Lena D. Sheptenko.

Each one should play their part in
in life,
Help carry the burdens and daily
strife.
Lift up souls, help them through.
As you would want someone to help you.

Go to your friends when called,
And do honor to your name and self,
By helping others with their plan;
Doing your part faithfully if you can.

Try and make your life a success,
By helping others attain happiness
Not only through money and fame.
But by sharing their troubles and blame.

If you cannot be a Hero—be simply a man,
If not a Captain, be the best you
can.
For everyone cannot be the same,
With fortune, success and fame.

After all this life is but one,
And when our purpose and trials
are won—
Some day each one will be called away,
To a wonderful Gathering, with Christ to stay!

NESTOS OUSTS BURKE COUNTY N. P. OFFICIAL

C. J. Kopina, Auditor, Is Removed from Office by Executive Order

RECALLS PREVIOUS FIGHT

Bowbells, N. D., Nov. 17.—Upon an order signed by Governor R. A. Nestos, C. J. Kopriva was this morning removed from the office of auditor of Burke county. The county board immediately appointed W. C. Martin, former clerk of court as acting auditor.

The charges made against Kopriva allege malfeasance and incompetence and also recited the use of abusive language in the handling the business of the office.

The order of the governor reached Bowbells nearly simultaneously with a mandamus order signed with Judge George Moellring of the district court at Minot which directed Kopriva to call County Commissioners John Grub and A. J. Hauge to serve on the canvassing board to check the returns of the recent election. Kopriva had previously called J. L. Fink, county judge and J. R. Jensen, county treasurer, both leaguers to serve on the canvassing board along with Hauge, the only league member of the board at present.

The contest which came to a climax this morning dates back to the removal of Kirklie and Grub by Governor Frazier over a year ago. After a full and complete hearing in district court the charges which had been set forth were dismissed and the two men, who are independents, were ordered reseated and put in control of the Burke county board.

In an effort to get control of the board a redistricting plan was started last summer, it is alleged, the plan being to change the first district by dropping Richland township out and substituting two other townships. A part of the town of Flaxton is located in Richland township and it was the independent votes in Flaxton that proved a material factor in the election of Commissioner Kirklie.

The alleged "gerrymander" is the subject of contest having been before the district court in Minot but a short time ago.

At noon today W. C. Martin was in charge of the office of county auditor and G. K. Melby was appointed deputy. Mr. Martin reported that while he made formal demand on Mr. Kopriva for keys to compartments housing records, etc., that the removed auditor had failed to turn them over.

It is understood that the work of canvassing the election returns will be started immediately by Commissioners John Grub and A. J. Hague, with Acting Auditor Martin.

GRAIN FUTURES CASE WILL GO TO HIGH COURT

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Federal Judge Carpenter today dismissed the Chicago board of trade bill for an injunction restraining enforcement of the grain futures trading regulatory act but continued the stay order preventing enforcement of the law until its constitutionality had been passed upon by the United States supreme court.

FOUR EXECUTED IN DUBLIN

(By the Associated Press)

Charge Conspiracy In Magneto Case

(By the Associated Press)

Washington, Nov. 17.—The government will proceed at once to bring requisite action in the Bosch magneto case in whatever jurisdiction the alleged conspiracy reported by the federal grand jury here today occurred, it was stated officially at the department of justice. The grand jury found evidence of a conspiracy in the sale by a former alien property custodian of the stock and patents of the company to private individuals but cleared that the conspiracy had not occurred within this jurisdiction.

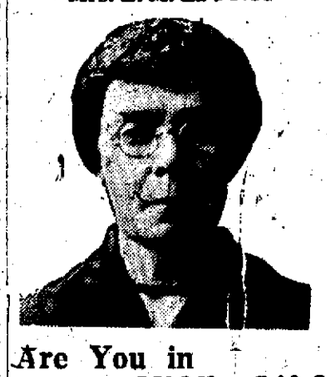
Mrs. E. M. La Fevre



Are You in Middle Life?

This is Vital to You, Read it

Minneapolis, Minn.—"During middle age I suffered from woman's weakness. Through this I became all run down and extremely nervous, suffered with dizzy spells and was so weak I could scarcely comb my own hair. I had severe backaches and bearing pains. I was practically an invalid for a whole year and could not seem to get help. I knew of Dr. Pierce's medicines and decided to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and also the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and by the use of these medicines I was relieved of all my weakness and restored to perfect health so I could do all my own work."—Mrs. E. M. La Fevre, 951 18 1-2 Ave., N. E.

Your neighborhood druggist can supply you with Dr. Pierce's famous remedies, in tablet or liquid form.

You don't have to coax big and little folks to eat Kellogg's Corn Flakes

Just as soon as you serve Kellogg's you'll note fussy and faded appetites getting mighty sharp; you'll find big bowls being handed back for "just a few more Kellogg's, mother—they're wonderful!"

And, that'll make you glad, for Kellogg's Corn Flakes are a great speed-start for the day's doings! They make for health and happy digestions! Kellogg's are never leathery or tough, but always joyously crisp!

Kellogg's—the original Corn Flakes—will be a revelation to your taste if you have been eating imitations! For your own enjoyment, do this:—compare the big, sunny-brown Kellogg's Corn Flakes with other "corn flakes." Eat some of Kellogg's—then try the imitations! You'll realize then why Kellogg's Corn Flakes are the largest and fastest selling cereal in the whole world!

Do more than ask for "corn flakes." Insist upon KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package! My, but it's worth while!

Now Is The Time To Buy Cranberries For Preserving

Then you can enjoy the delicious tart flavor of this health-giving fruit every day in the year.

Cranberries are reasonable in price. They are easily and quickly prepared—no peeling—no cores—no waste. Economical!

You can make 10 tumblers of jelly with 2½ pounds of sugar and 8 pounds of cranberries! Try this recipe:

Cranberry Jelly

Cook until soft the desired quantity of cranberries with 1½ pints of water for each two quarts of berries. Strain the juice through a jelly bag.

Measure the juice and heat it to the boiling point. Add one cup of sugar for every two cups of juice; stir until the sugar is dissolved; boil briskly for five minutes; skim, and pour into glass tumblers, porcelain or crockery molds.

Always cook cranberries in porcelain-lined, enameled, or aluminum vessels.

To be sure of a selection of the choicest varieties—ask for Eatmor Cranberries.

A folder containing recipes for other ways to use and preserve cranberries, sent free.
